My story starts about eight years ago, a good friend of mine had been pressuring me for a couple years to start reading a book series called “the wheel of time” he was actively reading physical copies, the day I decided to get them on audiobook was the day I found out I would have a total of three hours of commute to work and back, I proceeded to do this commute for 72 days straight, during that time I believe I hammered through the first 6 or 7 books, during this time your voices Kate and Michael became the soul of so many characters I’ve come to love, after completing the WOT series , I have to admit to this very day I ruthlessly compare other readers to your mastery, in particular you Michael, I can hear your Mistborn voices now, thank you for enriching my life in an amazing way..... “there are no beginnings or ends”.
