

Hi Kate and Michael,

I started listening to audio books about two years ago. Having dyslexia, writing and reading has been a challenge for me all my life, and still is. Though I have improved my writing during my young adult life, I never got that spark of having enough concentration to read as many books as I'd like. Knowing that I have missed out on so many wonderful stories by not reading, I decided to give audio books a go. During the pandemic, these books have become a large part of my life. I'm almost embarrassed to say that I have listened to books for over 45 days of total listening time during this period. Most of that time has been spent listening to your narration of Brandon Sanderson's Way of Kings and Mistborn. Of all the narrators I have listened to, you are my favourites. I just wanted to write you both a letter, saying how much I appreciate the work you both have done in reading these books. Giving me many worlds to let my imagination wander, and my heart feel these beautiful stories. I can't say I have ever experienced a more visceral way of story telling, than when I have heard you both read. I am now on my way into the Wheel of Time saga, thanks to you. Thank you for making this difficult time, that much brighter. And helping me expand my imagination. All the best from Norway.
Elias.
